Math and Computational Sciences Day
Faculty Panel and Lunch
Tuesday, February 13

Enjoy a light lunch, test your mathematics and computational science knowledge for prizes, and have an opportunity to ask faculty questions about their research interests, career paths and advice for undergraduate student success.

Faculty panelists:
- Steve Butler, associate professor and the Barbara J. Janson Professor in the Department of Mathematics
- Ulrike Genschel, associate professor of statistics
- Hridesh Rajan, professor of computer science and Kingland Professor of Data Analytics
- Hal Schenck, professor and chair of the Department of Mathematics
